[OFFICIAL.]

The English version only is here given.] Treaty of Commerce and Navigation between the United States of America and the Ottoman Empire. The United States of America on the one part, and his Imperial Majesty the Saltan of the Ottoman Empire on the other part, being equally animated by the desire of extending the commercial rela-tions between their respective countries, have agreed, for this purpose, to conclude a treaty of commerce and navigation, and have named as their respective pleni-potentiaries, that is to say: The President of the United States of America, Edward Joy Morris, Minister Resident at the Sublime Porte, and his Imperial Majesty the Sultan of the Ottoman Empire, his " 6,0 A.M. highness Mehemed Emin Aali Pacha, Minister of Foreign Affairs, decorated with the Imperial orders of the Othomanich in Brilliants, the Majidich, and Order of the First class, and the grand crosses of several foreign orders, who, after having communicated to each other their respective full powers, found in good and due from, have agreed upon the following ARTICLE I. All rights, privileges, and immunities which have been conferred on the citizens or vessels of the United States of America by the treaty already existing between the United States of America and the Ottoman Empire, are confirmed, now and forever, with the exception of those clauses of the said treaty which it is the object of the present treaty to modify; and it is moreover expressly stipulated that all rights, privileges, or immunities which the Sublime Ports now grants or may hereafter grant to, or suffer to be enjoyed by the subjects, ships, commerce, or navigation of any other foreign Power, shall be equally granted to and exercised and enjoyed by the citizens, vessels, comnerce, and navigation of the United States of America. ABTRUE II. The citizens of the United States of America, or their agents, shall be permitted to purchase, at all places within the opire and its possession (whether for the purpose of internal trade or of exportation,) all articles, without any exception whatsoever, the produce or manufacture of the said empire and pos-sessions; and the Sublime Porte having, in virtue of the second article of the convention of commerce of the 16th of August, 1838, with Great Britain, formally engaged to abolish all monopolies of agricultural produce, or of every other article whatsoever, as well as all "permita" (techerche) from the local governors, either for the purchase of any article or for its removal from one place to another when purchased, any attempt to compel the citizens of the United States of America to receive such "permits" from the local governors shall be considered as an infraction of this treaty, and the Sublime Porte shall immediately punish with severity any viziers or other officers who shall have been guilty of such misconduct and shall render full justice to citizens of the United States of America for all losses or injuries which they may duly prove themselves to have suffered

If any articles of Ottoman produce or manufacture be purchased by citizens of the United States of America, or their agents, for the purpose of selling the same for internal consumption in Turkey, the said citizens or their agents shall pay at the purchase and sale of such articles, and in any manner of trade therein, the same duties that are paid in similar circumstances by the most favored class of Ottoman subjects, or of foreigners in the internal trade of the Ottoman Empire.

ARTICLE IV. No other or higher duties or charges shall be imposed in the dominions and like article to any other country.

His Imperial Majesty further engages that, save as hereinafter excepted, he will not prohibit the importation into his dominions and possessions of any article the produce and manufacture of the United States of America, from whatever place arriving; and that the duties to be imposed on every article the produce or manufacture of the United States of America imported into the empire and possessions of his Imperial Majesty the Sultan shall in no case exceed one fixed rate of cight per cent ad valorem, or a specific duty, fixed by common consent, equivalent thereto. Such rate shall be calculated upon the value of such articles, at the wharf, and shall be payable at the time of their being landed, if brought by sea, or at the first custom-house they may reach, if brought by land.

If these articles, after having paid the mport duty of eight per cent, are sold either at the place of their arrival or in the interior of the country, neither the buyer nor the seller shall be charged with any further duty in respect to them; and it such articles should not be sold for consamption in the Ottoman Empire, but should be re-exported within the space of six months, the same shall be considered as merchandize in transit by land and be treated as is stated hereinafter in Article XII. of this treaty : the administration of the customs being bound to restore, at the time of their re-exportation, to the merchant, who shall be required to furnish proof that the goods in question have paid the import duty of ight per cent., the difference between that duty levied on goods in transit by land, as set forth in the article above cited.

ARTICLE VI. It is understood that any article the produce or manufacture of a foreign country intended for importation into the United Principalities of Moldo-Wallachia, or into the Principality of Servia. which shall pass through any other part of the Ottoman Empire, will not be liable to the payment of customs duty until it reaches those Principalities; and, on the produce or manufacture passing through those Principalities but destined for some ether part of the Ottoman Empire, will not be liable to the payment of customs duty until such article reaches the first esstom-house under the direct administration of the Sublime Porte.

The same course shall be followed with respect to any article the produce or manufacture of those principalities, as well as with respect to any article the produce or manufacture of any other for exportation. Such articles will be -the former to the custom-house of the aforesaid principalities, and the latter to the Ottoman custom-house; the object being that neither import her export duties shall in any case he payable more

In the latter case, the goods in question shall be deposited at Constantinople, in the magazine of the custom-house, called transit magazines; and, in any other places where there is no entrepet, they shall be placed under the charge of the administration of the customs. ABTICLE XIL The Sublime Porte, desiring to grant, by means of gradual concessions, all failities in its power to transit by land, it is stipulated and agreed that the duty of three per cent. levied up to this time on articles imported into the Ottoman Empire, in their passage through the Ottoman Empire to other countries, shall be reduced to two per cent, payable as the duty of three per cent. has been paid hitherto, on arriving in the Ottoman dominions; and at the end of eight yearr, to be reckoned from the day of the exchange of the ratification of the present treaty, to a fixed and definite tax of one per cent, which shall be levied, as is to be the case with respect to Ottoman produce exported, to defray the expense of registration. The Sublime Porte, at the same time. declares that it reserves to itself the right to establish, by a special enactment, the measures to be adopted for the prevention

Citizens of the United States of America, or their agents, trading in goods the produce or manufacture of foreign countries, shall be subject to the same taxes and enjoy the same rights, privileges, and immunities, as foreign subjects dealing in goods the produce or manufacture of their own country. ARTICLE MIV.

An exception to the stipulations laid down in the fifth article shall be made in regard to tobacco in any shape whatever, and also in regard to salt, which two arother hand, that any article of foreign ticles shall cease to be included among States of America are permitted to import into the Ottoman dominions. Citizens of the United States, however or their agents, buying or selling tobac-co or salt for consumption in the Ottoman empire, shall be subject to the same regulations and shall pay the same duties as the most favored Ottoman subject trading in the two articles aforesaid; and further more, as a compensation for the prohibi tion of the two articles above me portion of the Ottoman Empire, intended no duty whatsoever shall in future be levied on those articles when exported liable to the payment of customs duties from the Ottoman Empire by citizens of the United States.

Citizens of the United States shall, nevertheless, he bound to declare the quantity of tobacco and salt thus exported to the proper custom-house au-thorities, who shall, as heretofore, have the right to watch over the export of these articles, without thereby being entitled to levy any tax thereon on any pretence

It is understood between the two contracting parties that the Sublime Porto reserves to itself the faculty and right of issuing a general prohibition against the importation into the Ottoman Empire of gunpowder, cannon, arms of war, or military stores, but such prohibition will not come into operation until it shall have been officially notified, and will apply only to the articles mentioned in the de cree enacting the prohibition. Any of these articles which have not been so specifically prohibited, shall, on being imported into the Ottoman Empire, be subject to the local regulations, unless the legation of the United States of America shall think fit to apply for a special license, which will in that case be granted, provided no valid objection thereto can he alleged. Gunpowder, in particular when allowed to be imported, will be

ARTICLE KIX.

All merchandise, the produce or manupossessions, imported into the United States of America, shall be treated in the same manner as the like merchandize, the produce and manufacture of the most favored nation. All rights, privileges, or immunities, which are now or may hereafter be granted to, or suffered to be enjoyed by the subjects, vessels, commerce, or navigation of any foreign Power in the United States of America, shall be equally granted to, and exercised and enjoyed by the subjects, vessels, commerce, and navigation of the Sublime Porte.

ARTICLE XX.

The present treaty, when ratified, shall be substituted for the commercial vention of the 16th of August, 1838, between the Sublime Porte and Great Britian, on the footing of which the commerce of the United States of America has been heretofore placed, and shall continue in force for twenty-eight years from the day of the exchange of the ratifications; and each of the two contracting parties being, however, at liberty to give to the other, at the end of fourteen years, (that time being fixed, as the pro visions of this treaty will then have come into full force, ) notice for its revision, or for its determination at the expiration of a year from the date of that notice, and so again at the end of twenty-one

The present treaty shall receive its execution in all and every one of the provinces of the Ottoman Empire; that s to say, in all the possessions of his Imperial Majesty the Sultan, situated in Europe or in Asia in Egypt, and in the other paris of Africa belonging to the Sublime Porte, in Servia, and in the united principalities of Moldavia and Wallachin-

It is always understood that the Gov-ernment of the United States of America does not pretend, by any article in the present treaty, to stipulate for more than the plain and fair construction of the terms employed, nor to proclude in any manner the Ottoman Government from the exercise of its rights of internal administration where the exercise of these rights does not evidently infringe upon

ARTICLE XXII

The high contracting parties have agreed settlement of a tariff of vustom-house duties, to be levied in conformity with the stipulations of the present treaty, as well upon merchandise of every description, being the produce or manufacture of the I nited States of America, imported into the Ottoman Empire, as upon ar ticles of every description the produce or manufacture of the Ottoman Empire for exportation to the United States or to any other country. The new tariff, to be so concluded, shall remain in force during seven years, dating from the date of the exchange of the ratifications. Each of the contracting parties shall have the right, a year before the expira-tion of that term, to demand the revision of the tariff. But if, during the seventh year, neither the one nor the other of the contracting parties shall avail itself of this right the tariff then existing shall continue to have the force of law for seyen years more, dating from the day of the expiration of the seven preceding years, and the same shall be the case with respect to every successive period of ARTICLE XXIII. The present treaty shall be ratified and the ratifications shall be exchanged at Constantinople, in three calendar months, or sooner, if possible, and shall be carried into execution when ratified.
